

Multilingual Specialist

Huawei, Shanghai/China

Industry | ICT & Consumer Electronics

Employment Type | Full-Time

Job Functions | Localization, Translation, Writing/Editing

Job Description

Huawei is an ICT solutions provider, headquartered in China and with operations in more than 170 countries. Our products and solutions are serving more than one third of the world's population, and include smartphones, PCs, tablets, wearables, and more.

We're looking for an experienced, bilingual writer and translator to join our team. Our work spans UI/UX, naming, marketing, branding, user manuals, and of course UX writing and translation.

You will be responsible for working with other linguists, as well as the development and design team to find the best writing, translation, and localization solutions for a variety of consumer products.

Ideal candidates will have outstanding written verbal and written communication skills, total fluency in Chinese and English, be culturally fluent, and be driven to work towards a common goal.

Responsibilities

- Translation from English into Arabic, Japanese, Polish, Thai, Italian, Czech, German, Spanish (European), Dutch, Vietnamese, Ukrainian, French, and Portuguese (Brazil)
- Linguistic testing
- Cultural adaptation and localization
- Communicating with teams from different professional backgrounds

Requirements

- Native speakers of the languages above
- Native-level mastery of English
- Intuitive understanding of how information should be presented and structured
- Degree in translation, language studies, telecommunications, computer science or related field
- Experience in translation, writing, editing, localization, or communications
- Experiences in ICT products preferred
- Chinese proficiency preferred

- Curious, quick learner (enjoy learning how things work), and attentive to details
- Empathetic, able to imagine user perspectives
- Flexible problem solver who approaches issues from many angles
- Ability to multitask and work under pressure

Huawei believes the future will be a Better Connected World. We connect systems, businesses, cities, and people around the globe. We make work more efficient, help transform industries, and deliver a better experience to every user. Huawei enables the free exchange of ideas, and moves the world forward. Come and join us. Let's change the world together.

To apply for this position, please send your CV to dongfulin@huawei.com.